

GRI Standards Launch Event Series 2016-2017

Terms and conditions

Registration

By registering for a GRI Standards Launch Event you agree that the contact information given in your registration can be used for communications about the event, as well as for sending marketing materials and information on events organized by the Event Host or GRI. You will of course get the opportunity to opt out of these future emails.

GRI will not sell, share, or disclose otherwise this information to others in ways different from what is disclosed in these Terms and Conditions.

Photographs and videos

GRI reserves the right to photograph and film the event and participants and to use such photographs and films in any internal and external communication referring to the event or GRI, such as on its websites, GRI's social media channels, or other publications. By registering you consent to such uses.

Insurance and liability disclaimer

GRI cannot be held responsible for any loss, injury or damage to any property, whatever the cause may be. Liability of persons and enterprises providing means of transportation or other services, however, remains unaffected.

It is recommended that participants obtain adequate cover for travel, health and accident insurance before coming to the event. GRI cannot accept responsibility for personal injuries, or loss of, or damage to, private property belonging to the event participants and accompanying persons.

Should, for any reason outside GRI's control (including but not limited to acts of terrorism, extreme weather conditions and/or industrial action) the venue or speakers change, or the event be cancelled, GRI will endeavor to re-schedule, but shall not be held responsible for any costs, damages or expenses incurred by registrants. If for any reason GRI decides to make material changes to this event, it is not responsible for airfares, hotels or other costs incurred by registrants. The registrant takes part in the event at his/her own risk. Furthermore, GRI may not be held liable for any costs or damages incurred resulting from acts outside of its control including but not limited to force majeure, strikes and/or public manifestations. Only written arrangements are binding. Registration of a participant entails acceptance of these conditions.

In any disputes that may arise concerning the execution or interpretation of the present terms and conditions related to the event registration, both parties agree that they will be subject to Dutch law and that the commercial courts of Amsterdam will be competent, without prejudice to GRI's right to initiate proceedings under the laws and before the courts of the participant's registered office in the event any sums are due by the participant to GRI.
